IE Flash Problem Solver

"IE Flash Problem Solver disables Flash content blocking in a few seconds. Microsoft has released updates to Internet Explorer that will change how it handles active content such as that viewed in Adobe's Macromedia Flash Player, Authorware Player, Shockwave Player, and Adobe Reader, as well as Sun Java, Apple QuickTime, RealNetworks RealPlayer and other ActiveX controls. Active content that is embedded in HTML pages in certain ways will not be able to receive user input (for example, keyboard or mouse events) until the user clicks to either activate or continue loading the control. Use Softery IE Flash Problem Solver for Dreamweaver to check and to fix the whole your website automatically without any special knowledge." I tried this tool after you gave me this tip and I got the same results I did without the tool: Well there are two things you can do about this issue. Well, three if you count uninstalling and reinstalling the browser. First of all, if you want to use IE and not Firefox or Chrome or Safari, download Firefox for Windows from Mozilla.org. Then just install IE, and unplug and plug the USB cable again and, well, I don't know what you do about that, but maybe it is a PEBKAC error? I think I've seen solutions for that problem, you will probably have to unzip the archive and navigate to the root folder of all of the files and do a clean uninstall, which means that if the install folder has a.user file, the uninstaller won't delete that, so you'll have to manually delete it. If you want to use IE with the latest version, there are different problems with blocking of Flash content. First of all, you have to disable the automatic update feature for Firefox. (I haven't read all of it, I just found the "Suggested" code, but I think the article goes into more detail than that) If you're using Dreamweaver, the tool is just what you need. You can install it to the Dreamweaver folder or you can also find it at To use it with Dreamweaver, you must enable the source control which is located in Tools > Tools > Preferences > Project properties. Check the box that says "Enable Source Control". If it doesn't work, find another version of the Flash Player. It's now b7e8fdf5c8
